

Here is the summary for the Skiing campout:

The Troop went on the Skiing campout on January 15-17, 2010. We took a long 4-5 hour journey to Indiana. We stayed at a cabin owned by the Kannenberg family. This is usually the only time where our troop spends the night at a house (other than summer camp). The stay was enjoyable and most of the troop played card games to pass the time. The younger group was assigned to the basement while the adults and older kids stayed upstairs. The next morning we went to Paoli Peaks Resort to ski. We skied from 10:30am to almost 5pm. The troop had a fantastic time, nobody complained -that's a first. For many, this was the first time they skied but they picked up on it pretty quickly and were soon racing down the hills. This was one of the most fun and interesting campouts yet.
